

INQUIRY JOURNEYS

Scope and Sequence

Navigating School

How can we make school a great place for everyone?

Students need to understand the places and people around them to thrive at school. In this Inquiry, students explore their roles at school, investigating how they can make choices that will make school a great place for themselves and those around them.

Investigation Modules

School norms, behaviors, and interactions

Creating maps of the school and classroom

Student roles and responsibilities

Being a helper

Interviewing staff members about roles and duties

Leaders, helpers, and friends

Tactics to help resolve conflicts

Encountering problems

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Written Project, students might collaborate on an original storybook to help future students navigate school.

My Team and Self

How can we unite to build a powerful class community?

To understand what you can accomplish as a team, you need to understand who makes up the team and how those individuals can work together. Students explore elements of personal identity and identify opportunities for teamwork in their class community.

Investigation Modules

Self-portraits: historical and student-generated

Family, culture, and identity

Case Study: Apollo 11 and the power of different skills

Classmate interviews

Brainpower and brain growth

Strengths, challenges, and growth mindset

Cooperation and teamwork

Setting shared goals

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a 3D Project, students might create works of art to teach visitors about how knowing themselves and their classmates helps them form stronger teams.

Past, Present, and Future

How can we use wisdom from the past to build a better future?

Understanding our past experiences and how our memories shape us is integral to planning for our future. Students explore concepts of time and memory, discovering and sharing stories and memories that have helped them learn and grow.

Investigation Modules

Past, present, and future

Learning from stories

Increments and measures (months, weeks, days)

Natural cycles and patterns (night and day, seasons)

Chronological order

Timelines

Learning from experiences

Relationship between actions and outcomes

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a 2D Project, students might create a display of illustrations that shares pieces of wisdom they've gained from past experiences.

Families Near and Far

How can we bring families together to form stronger communities?

Families take many forms; there's no single definition. In this Inquiry, students identify the roles and responsibilities that contribute to a family. They explore what makes their family unique and the differences they may encounter among different families and cultures.

Investigation Modules

Exploration of different family structures

Families around the world

Responsibilities, needs, and wants of a family

Compare and contrast roles

Exploring holidays and food traditions

Customs and traditions

How families help each other

Diverse family types

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Written Project, students might collect recipes to create an original cookbook that celebrates the diversity of traditions in their classroom community.

Our Special Location

How can we help others appreciate our special location?

Our geographic location shapes who we are and how we live. During this Inquiry, students investigate how location and climate shape daily life, and how goods and services meet community needs.

Investigation Modules

Maps and globes: symbols, directions, and location

Mapping important community locations

Characteristics of rural, urban, and suburban communities

Community goods and services

Landforms, bodies of water, and local and regional climates

Effects of climate and landscape on way of life

Symbols that represent our community

Community workers and helpers

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Multimedia Project, students might use cardboard boxes to create a 3D map of their community with symbols and signage, inviting other students to their class for a miniature guided tour.

Civic Engagement

How can we work together for the good of the community?

You are never too young to engage in civic life. In this Inquiry, students explore different forms of participation and investigate key civics topics such as rights, fairness, responsibilities, rules, and laws.

Investigation Modules

Responsibilities as community citizens

Function of rules and laws

Historical changes in rules and laws

Case Study: Women and girls in sports

Difference between fact and opinion

Making informed choices

Working together to overcome challenges

Case Study: Americans with Disabilities Act

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Presentation Project, students might collaborate to plan a video PSA that investigates an issue in their school community they would like to address.

Meeting Needs and Wants

How can we work together to meet community needs and wants?

Communities are created to meet our common needs. In this Inquiry, students are introduced to the concepts of needs and wants, scarcity and abundance, the ways that producers and consumers interact, and how individuals and communities make choices about how to use their resources.

Investigation Modules

- 🔍 Understanding needs and wants
 - Prices, saving, spending, and giving
- 🔍 Producers and consumers
 - Market economy: supply and demand
- 🔍 Planned vs. unexpected expenses
 - Financial literacy and decision-making
- 🔍 Community needs and wants
 - Generating ideas to meet community needs

Action Module

- 🔍 Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Multimedia Project, students might demonstrate their understanding of community needs and wants by designing original products for “sale” at a model marketplace or makers fair.

Our Changing Landscape

How can we respond to our changing landscape?

Our relationship to the physical world around us begins with our own geographical location and the physical features of that location. In this Inquiry, students explore access to and dependency on natural resources, how and why we modify the landscape, and the impacts that modifications can have on land, water, and living things.

Investigation Modules

- 🔍 Identifying geographic features
 - Natural resources of community and state
- 🔍 Basic human needs
 - Freshwater and issues of scarcity
- 🔍 Types of modifications to the environment
 - Population growth and landscape changes
- 🔍 Responses to environmental problems
 - Innovation in fresh food production

Action Module

- 🔍 Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a 3D Project, students might design an interactive game to teach other students how everyday objects can be traced back to natural resources.

Innovation

How can we innovate to improve the world around us?

Innovation touches every facet of life – past, present, and future. In this Inquiry, students consider how innovation changes society as a whole as they make their own blueprints for inventing a better world.

Investigation Modules

- 🔍 Sparks and impacts of innovation
 - Using evidence to evaluate impact of innovation
- 🔍 Spotlight on George Washington Carver
 - Characteristics of effective innovators
- 🔍 Impact of Industrial Revolution’s innovations
 - Transcontinental Railroad
- 🔍 Improving communities through innovation
 - Modern innovations

Action Module

- 🔍 Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Presentation Project, students might organize a living history museum to inform their community of the innovations and innovators that have brought about significant changes to daily life.

Global Connections

How can we act as global citizens?

Is it possible to touch a country and its people without ever setting foot there? In this Inquiry, students explore the geographic ways they are connected to distant places and the people who live there through the movement of people, goods, and ideas.

Investigation Modules

Relative location and geographic features

Latitude, longitude, and grid systems

Domestic and global trade

Geography's effect on culture

Natural resources and raw materials

Cultural diffusion and globalization

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a 2D Project, students might inform their peers of the origins of various products by creating a wordless storybook that traces the journeys of these products.

Migration and Movement

How can we honor and respect our many cultures?

Throughout the history of the United States, immigration has played a large part in shaping our culture, politics, and economy. In this Inquiry, students explore the timeless themes of immigration as they uncover the meaning and value of cultural identity.

Investigation Modules

Identifying push and pull factors

The impact of conflict on movement

Cultural identity and immigration

Evolving identities

Waves of immigration to the US

Identifying themes of immigration experiences

Diverse communities

Community connections

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Multimedia Project, students might host an exhibition night focusing on the stories of local landmarks named after immigrants.

The 20th Century Civil Rights Movement

How can we take steps toward equality and justice?

All people in the United States have the right to equal protection under the law. Students investigate how citizens exercise their rights in our democracy through the lens of the Civil Rights Movement.

Investigation Modules

Rights and responsibilities

Civil Rights Act of 1964

March on Washington

The Civil Rights Movement

Learning from changemakers

Positive footsteps for change

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Written Product students might celebrate the contributions of civil rights changemakers by creating a graphic novel that highlights their efforts and impacts.

Natural Resources of the US

How should we use the natural resources of the United States?

Each region of the United States is unique; together, they provide people with the different resources they need to survive. In this Inquiry, students explore the rich natural resources across the US, how people use them, and the ways everyone can help sustain them.

Investigation Modules

Regions of the United States
Climate, geography, and resources

Economic, social, and environmental stress
Case Study: Dust Bowl

Energy from earth, air, water, and sun
Renewable vs. non-renewable energy

Promoting a working landscape
Sustainability

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Written Project, students might create brochures to support an initiative to protect a natural resource in their community.

Our State and Region

How can we help tell the story of our state?

The historical roots of early state, local, and regional history are not buried, but alive in the artifacts and monuments around us, as well as the stories that we tell. In this Inquiry, students learn about the first peoples to live in their state and region and the major events of their history.

Investigation Modules

First evidence of humans in our state
Historic Native American cultures

Rights and freedom in state history
US policy and Indigenous Americans' freedom

State-specific history and developments timeline
Researching and telling our state's story

Historical sources and perspectives
Memorializing state history

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a 3D Project, students might honor a person from state history by creating a scale prototype of a monument for their community.

Economic Choices

How can we make economic choices that have positive impacts?

Throughout our lives, the economic decisions we make affect us and others in our community in profound ways. In this Inquiry, students explore their role as a consumer, producer, and economic decision-maker.

Investigation Modules

Goods, services, producers, consumers
Supply and demand

Market demand and resources
Exploring our region's economic story

Opportunity costs
Costs and benefits

Making goals-based economic choices
Role of banks and financial institutions

Action Module

Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Multimedia Project, students might design a business plan to address a community need, conducting research and developing a way to produce and sell a valuable good or service.

Native America

How can we better honor the cultural heritage of this land?

Ever since their first encounter with Europeans, Native Americans have been misrepresented in the popular imagination and the historical record. Students explore diverse historical sources to form a deeper understanding of Native America's rich and varied cultures and histories.

Investigation Modules

- | | |
|--|---|
|  Diversity across Native America |  Storytelling as a historical source |
| Cultural areas investigation | Folktale investigation |
|  Artifacts as historical sources |  Perceptions of the "first Thanksgiving" |
| Analyzing artifacts | Comparing narratives |

Action Module

-  Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a 2D Project, students might share the true stories of inspiring Native Americans by creating a series of honorary portraits for display in the school building.

The Colonial Era

How can facing the complexities of America's past help us to meet the challenges of the present?

The European settlement of North America created a collision of worlds that led to profound global impacts. In this Inquiry, students go beyond a single narrative to explore the complex web of events and cross-cultural interactions that helped shape both the past and present of our nation.

Investigation Modules

- | | |
|--|--|
|  Columbian Exchange |  Jamestown colony source analysis |
| Migration to the Americas | Plymouth colony source analysis |
|  Colonial geography, economics, and culture |  Social roles in Colonial America |
| Slavery in the colonies | Colonial resistance |

Action Module

-  Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Presentation Project, students might address the representation of cultural groups in colonial era artworks through a presentation to the school community.

The American Revolution

How can we promote life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness for all?

The American Revolution reshaped society, culture, and government in the American colonies and territories. In this Inquiry, students explore the events, causes, and consequences of the Revolution, uncovering how diverse groups and individuals shaped the course of US history.

Investigation Modules

- | | |
|---|---|
|  Pre-war timeline of important events |  British and American strengths and weaknesses |
| Development of colonial identity | Major battles and the homefront |
|  Source analysis of Capitol paintings |  Declaration of Independence |
| Founding fathers case studies | Constitution, conflict, and compromise |

Action Module

-  Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a Written Project, students might create a magazine to inform their community about contemporary events that align to (or don't live up to) the ideals of the Declaration of Independence.

Rights and Responsibilities

How can we contribute to a healthy democracy?

The concept of freedom can be applied to the relationships between individuals, governments, religious groups, tribes, or other organizations. This Inquiry explores the concept of freedom in parallel with a study of the Constitution, Bill of Rights, and branches of government.

Investigation Modules

- | | |
|--|---|
|  Preamble to the Constitution |  Checks and balances, branches of government |
| Absolute monarchy and power | Constitution in crisis |
|  Constitution, Bill of Rights |  Creating arguments through images |
| Amending the Constitution | Protections and limitations on freedom |

Action Module

-  Using the lessons and resources in the Action Module for a 2D Project, students might design and create a mural that illustrates their rights and responsibilities as Americans to encourage young people to be more active in their community.
